DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed November 1, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues on pages 11-12 that "Raz teaches away from processing the query with the second system, wherein the second system utilizes metadata that is only in a storage area not residing on the second system to process the query." Examiner respectfully disagrees. Raz teaches in Fig.5B that the "client" system (12, Fig.5B), which corresponds to the first system, to submit a query to the "server" system (18, Fig.5B), which corresponds to a second system, wherein the server utilizes the metadata in the separated "control and management" storage area (see Fig.5B and col.5, line 40 to col.6, line 7, Raz). These metadata files are compressed at the server then be transmitted to the client where the files are decompressed and resided at (col.11, lines 6-22). Therefore, Raz clearly teaches the claimed limitation "processing the query with the second system, wherein the second system utilizes metadata that is only in a storage area not residing on the second system to process the query".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Art Unit: 2161

2. Claims 1-2, 4-15, 17-28, 30-39 and 43-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Raz (U. S. Patent no. 6,292,827) of record.

Regarding claims 1, 14 and 27, Raz discloses a method at (Fig.1-Fig.3, Raz) for accessing information on a network (2, Fig.1), the method comprising the steps of:

a) allowing a first system (12, Fig.3) to submit a query to a second system (18, Fig3, Raz); please note that the client terminal and sever are correspond to the first system and second system.

b) processing the query with the second system, wherein the second system utilizes metadata that is only in a storage area not residing on the second system to process the query (see Fig. 1-3 and col. 4, lines 34-40 and col. 5, lines 5-10, Fig.5B; col.5, line 40 to col.6, line 7 and col.11, lines 6-22, Raz). The information resides in the external system that will provide for the second system's query whenever needed; and

c) utilizing the second system to return a result of the processed query to the first system (Fig.1-Fig.3, corresponding text and summary of Raz).

Regarding claim 2, Raz further discloses in FIG.1 the method wherein the first system comprises a client machine (1) and the second system comprises a server machine (9, Fig.1, Raz).

Regarding claim 4, Raz further discloses the method wherein the metadata comprises information about objects (column 5, lines 62-67, Raz).

Regarding claim 5, Raz further discloses the method wherein the objects comprise tables, triggers and indexes (FIG. 8-10, Raz).

Art Unit: 2161

Regarding claim 6, Raz further discloses the method wherein a first protocol is utilized by the client machine to submit the query and the query includes data and metadata along with a request to perform an operation on the data and metadata (column 3, lines 58-66, Raz).

Regarding claim 7, Raz further discloses the method wherein a first protocol is utilized by the client machine to submit the query and the query includes a pointer to the data and metadata along with a request to perform an operation on the data and metadata (column 3, lines 58-66 and column 5, line 62 to column 6 line 7, Raz).

Regarding claim 8, Raz further discloses the method wherein the server machine implements a second protocol to process the query (column 8, lines 51-54, Raz).

Regarding claim 9, Raz further discloses the method wherein the processing of the query comprises the server machine performing the requested operation on the data and metadata (FIG. 7 and column 5, line 60 to column 6, line 7, Raz).

Regarding claim 10, Raz further discloses the method wherein the network comprises the Internet (FIG. 1, Raz).

Regarding claim 11, Raz further discloses the method wherein the server machine implements a second protocol to process the query (column 8, lines 51-54, Raz).

Regarding claim 12, Raz further discloses the method wherein the processing of the query comprises the server machine performing the requested operation on the data and metadata (FIG. 7 and column 5, line 60 to column 6, line 7, Raz).

Regarding claim 13, Raz further discloses the method wherein the network comprises the Internet (FIG. 1, Raz).

Regarding claims 15, 17-26 and 28, 30-39, the elements of these claims are rejected in the analysis above and these claims are rejected on that basis.

Regarding claims 43, 45 and 47, Raz further discloses that the storage area resides on the third system (col. 4, lines 31-40, Raz). The external system corresponds to the third system.

Regarding claims 44, 46 and 48, Raz further discloses that the storage area resides on the first system (see summary of Raz). "client terminal" corresponds to the first system that the distributed data resides at.

Conclusion

3. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
